U. K. TO BE HOST TO RURAL SCHOOL TOURNEY TODAY

Seventh Annual Kentucky Contests to Open in Memorial Hall

MORE THAN 900 ARE EXPECTED TO ATTEND

Music, Scholarships, and De-clamation Will Be Included

The seventh annual Kentucky rural school tournament, consisting of contests in music, scholarships, and declamation, under the auspices of the extension department of the university, will open at 10 a. m. today in Memorial hall. The program will extend throughout today and Saturday, and more than 960 students are expected from 40 counties throughout the state.

The counties winning the most points in the various contests will be given loving cups, the cup for athletics precented jointly by the state Y. W. C. A. and the university. Pupils who are awarded first honors in each of the events will be presented gold pins.

The program in the afternoon will include declamatory events for boys and girls. The entrants will be diinto four sections for preliminaries starting at 3 o'clock in Memorial hall, the lecture room of McVey hall, the Auditorium of the Training school and the auditorium of Frazee hall. The finals in declamation for boys and girls will be held in the auditorium of the training school at 7:30 p. m.

At 12:45 o'clock all representatives and their chaperones will be guests for luncheon in the training school cafeteria. At 1:45 o'clock general meeting will be held in the auditorim of the training school. Achievement tests will be conducted at 2 o'clock in the training school building and Frazee hall under the direction of Prof. C. C. Ross.

A special feature of the program will be a demonstration of the Fullerton Method by Prof. James E. Van Peursem of Eastern State Teachers college. Professor Van Peursem will take a group of pupils and with the aid of the phonograph teach them a new song. The counties with glee club entries are: Anderson, Boone, Fayette, Harrison, Henry, Kenton, Lewis, McCracken, Mercer, Nicholas, Pendleton, Powell, Shelby, Scott, and Woodford.

The tournament will begin this morning at 10 o'clock with the appearance of glee clubs from the elementary schools of 15 counties. Miss Mildred Lewis will preside and Mrs. Charles E. Skinner, Mrs. Foster Krake and Miss Josephine Parker will serve as judges. A loving cup will be awarded to the county presenting the best group of sing-

At 8:00 a. m. Saturday, on Stoll field, the field meet will open with the high jump. Other events scheduled are the standing broad jump, the girls' and boys' baseball throw, the boys' running broad jump, the boys' and girls' 50, 100, and 150 yard dashes, boys' and girls' relays, and running and catching contests. Luncheon will be served in the Training school cafeteria at 11:30 Saturday, and at 12:00 o'clock the trophies will be awarded at Stoll field. In 1930 Harrison county won the cup for general efficiency in scholarship and athletics combined. Henderson county won the cup given by the uniefficiency in scholarship.

Rhodes Scholarship Committee Will Meet

Three Applications of Students Received by Group

The Rhodes Scholarship committee of Kentucky, appointed by the Rhodes Scholarship Trust will meet December 5 to make the selection of the Rhodes Scholarship student have been received.

Members of the Kentucky committee are: chairman, Pres. Frank L. McVey; Prof. C. A. Keith, Rich-C. Hiermyer, Louisville, and W. S. Hynes, Columbia.

There are 32 assignations anually in the United States grouped into eight divisions of six states each. A competition is held in every state for the purpose of making the 32 appointments. In each state, the committee of selection will nominate two men from the candidates applying to appear before the district committee. Each district committee will then select from the 12 candidates so nominated not more than four men who will represent states as Rhodes scholars at

A candidate must, in the first instance present a written endorsement from the head of his college or university to the effect that he s a suitable applicant for a Rhodes scholarship. There are no fixed quotas, but qualifications are string-

Coach Miller Thinks Freshman Team May Be Defeated

GREENIES HAVE WON TWO OF THREE TILTS

Season is Only Half Over for First Year Gridiron Players

By DELMAR ADAMS

A band of snarling Kittens will entertain an even more ferocious band of youngsters from Western Normal at 2 o'clock Saturday afernoon on Stoll field.

Coach Miller, speaking of the prospects, said, "The Kittens will take a beating if they don't put more energy into their playing and play a better game than they have shown so far this season." If sta-tistics mean anything then the charges of Coach Pribble and Coach Miller are in for a licking for Vanderbilt whipped the Kentucky first year men 13-0, and Western walloped the Vanderbilt frosh by a 7-0

The Kittens have been driven at a top pace all the week in preparation for this big game, and the boys look some better than they did when they played their last game. Bilbro still is nursing a sore knee, and Miller, Jean, and Barney are not in the pink of condition, due to the rough treatment received at the hands of the Big Blue, who have been scrimmaging against the verdent ones all week. Today the freshmen are alone on Stoll field and will concentrate their efforts on plays for their engagement to-morrow. The varsity has caused a depletion of the first year squad and only 30 odd of the youthful aspirants remain with which the varsity may toy. With three games behind and with two victories out of the three only this game and the embroglio with the Tennessee Rats remain on the yearling's schedule. Two more victories would place this year's yearling squad on a par with great yearling crews of the past.

The yearling line is very promising and Coach Miller who is tutor-ing the green backfield has a nice crop of greenclad ball-toters from which to select his starting lineup There are two men for every position in the backfield who are equally as good with the exception of the fullback post, where Jack Jean reigns supreme.

Very little is known of the strength of the visiting frosh ag-gregate, but their line is said to average right around the 200 pound mark, while their backfield is faster Hazel Mattingly, Henry McCow-en, Ben Taylor, Elizabeth Hardin, the aforesaid Rats took the Kittens for a ride to the tune of 13-0, but Sue Whitehouse, Ester Lee Schoot, James Drennon, O. Of 150 votes cast by men students, 146 affirmed the attitude that women should stand for half of the expenditures necessitated by an evening of revelry. Three voted against such a departure from traditional procedure, while one voter was divided among himself and voted yes and no.

Too few girls voted to give a representative balloting of their aggregate wishes on the subject. Of the seven voting, three favored the 50-50 plan, and four were unmitigatedly against it.

The question naturally arises as to how the 50-50 plan would work in those instances where two men escort one grl, or where two girls are escorted by one man, in the process of finding entertainment.

More than half of the men voting emphasized their whole-heart-edness in the move for a change by the addition of a single word, making their votes read (These votes were tabluated at a value of one, despite the extra forcefulness of their context.)

Whether or not the resolutions in support of Coach Gamage, which were signed by members of the Wildcat squad, are an accurate index to their opinions on the matter The Kernel does not intend to argue at present. If we must insist upon continuing the present controversy, can we not at least postpone it until the season is terminated?

A sportsman would do nothing which would in any way impair the chances of victory of a team which he is supporting. Is it not more important that the Wildcats win the remainder of their games, than that the ability of Coach Gamage is now an exceedingly controversal matter?

News, nevertheless, is news, whether it is made by an undesirable Northerner or a Negro cotton picker in the South.

The same situation which Mr. Dreiser came to investigate in Kentucky has existed frequently in the North. But we, as Kentuckians, are orered to "protect" an outsider when he comes into our state on a personal publicity tour.

HELP CENTRE, DANVILLE AND THE "SECRET THREE

Editor, The Kentucky Kernel Dear Sir:

A recent issue of the Danville Daily Advocate carried a story which told of a "Secret Three" who will keep a careful watch on all Danvillians who attend Tennessee-Kentucky game at Lexington on Thanksgivng instead of following the Colonels to Chattanooga. It is the belief of the newspaper that it will be just as well to know who are the real supporters of the Gold and White, a team with a "glorious

I believe that it would be wise for a Three, not necessarily secret, to be formed at the University of Kentucky. The first duty of this organization would be to communicate with the 'Secret Three" of Danville and to offer its cooperation in carrying out the program which the original group has put forth? It might even be possible to enlist the services of the police departments of Lexington and Danville. By this method would be possible to keep any Danvillian with a "Lexington Look" in his eye from leaving the city on Thanksgiving and it would be possible, if the police force of the little town could not entirely handle the situation, to have the gentlemen of

I believe such an arrangement would do more than anything else to promote a sadly needed harmony between the two schools, and I feel sure that it would be appreciated by those of our Danville friends who are

His chatter is constant, off-stage or on. Many of his off-stage cracks are, of course, unprintable.

The story usually given out by the brothers about Harpo's silence is that before he joined the act he was behind scenes during a performance and took a notion to run across the stage while the show was in progress. This so panicked the audience that the brothers decided that Harpo was a worthy addition to the company without speaking. The inside dope has the story thus, Harpo lisps. RESHNESS and flavor in a cigarette trace right back to natural moisture.

If you overheat or process tobacco so harshly as to dry out all natural moisture you drive out freshness and flavor too.

Camel never parches or toasts the fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos it uses—they are naturally smooth, cool, mellow, with natural moisture retained.

The eyes of the football world will be turned southward tomo to watch the results of two of the greatest battles of the 1931 football eason. The companionship of the Southern Conference and a mythat stake when the Vanderbilt Commodores clash with the Tennessee Volunteers and the Green Wave of Tulane meets the Bulldogs of Geor-

The outstanding game will be between Tulane and Georgia at Ath-ens. Coach Mehre has sent out the to a score of ess than 25 points this was the margin of victory last year when the Green Wave com-pletely submerged the Bulldogs at New Orleans. Georgia will be keyed up to high pitch and should be able to give Tulane a great battle. Coach Bierman has his team in fine con-dition and is confident of a decisive win over the Bulldogs. We believe Georgia will come through with a hard earned victory although they will enter the contest as the underdogs. If Tulane is defeated it will be its first loss since 1928.

The Tennessee-Vanderbilt test is one of those traditional bat-tles that usually calls for as much fighting in the stadium as on the field. The Commodores have not won from the Volunteers since 1926 and nothing could please Dan McGuigan more than to upset Tennessee tomorrow. Major Neyland and his entire first team scouted the Vandy machine ast Saturday and were surprised at the power of their opponents. This game appears to be a toss-up although on dope Tennes-see seems to be at least two touchdowns better than Vanderbilt. Dope means nothing in games between these two rivals, but just to play safe we select the Volunteers.

Kentucky is favored to win from V. M. I., despite the fact that there "something in Denmark." The Cadets usually put up a fine battle against the Wildcats; the margin of victory may be sur-prising in this contest.

Florida is still all wet from their contact with the Crimson Tide last Saturday but should be able to snap back in the win column against South Carolina. The 'Gators are having one of the worst seasons since Charlie Bacchman took command, but as yet we have heard no talk of firing him.

Wallace Wade should be able to drive his Duke Blue Devils to a victory over North Carolina State providing he is still carrying the same horse shoe that he used against Kentucky. Duke has a very good defensive team this year but their offense has been pitifully weak in every game this season.

Alabama has a set-up in Clemson any team that meets the Tide from now on is in for a mighty tough afternoon. Coach Thomas has a team that is just a slight bit weak-er than the champion "bone-crusher" that Wade developed last year at Alabama.

Ballad Entitled, "Guess Who's Got the Mote In His Eye?'

Lexington has a lean and hungry look. Famine-stricken for a football championship. Uneasy and distressed for food of victory. Dripping it the jowls. Swallowing defeat. And choking on it. Panic stricken for

Like half-starved wolves, with gaping maws, on a meaty odor; like drowning man clutching desperately at a straw, they take up the cry Give us a team! Give us a coach! Give us an athletc council; Give us anything, but for the sake of our championship appetites, do it quick. Something is wrong! Everything is wrong! Why doesn't someone do

Their passion for a Southern Conference championship is admirable, but the discrepancies in the ends to which it leads them is deplorable. Never has there been a town so intent on a victorious football team, and never has there been such a lack of wisdom.

But inconsistencies in their fervor are quite noticeable. A victory for Kentucky brings no loud acclaim....only grunts of half-hearted approval, and wrinkled brows while trying to explain and alibi for the defeat of the opposition: loose talk about the weakness of the defeated What difference the foe? A victory is a victory. Where, then, is this clamoring spirit for championship? Why not give the devil his due? Why not a little encouragement instead of hackneyed pessimism.

Self-styled supporters shout themselves hoarse about the wonderful material on hand at Kentucky. True, but is it the best in the South? Can you recall the one-sided scores of the Kentucky-Tennessee freshman games for the past three years? Do you know that Alabama had 25 more men on the bench when Kentucky played there this year than Kentucky had out for practice at the beginning of the season? Do you know that Georgia's traveling squad (always the cream of any coach's material) is greater than the entire Kentucky squad? Do you know that many coaches in the South have been working a great many more years than Gamage for a championship and haven't had as much as a glimpse?

It is the tendency of the person and of the mass to oppose that of which they are ignorant. And few people know Gamage intimately. His mistake has been in devoting his entire time, his thoughts, and his heart to developing a winning team for Kentucky. Unless a football coach has an established reputation, he must grandstand for the public. He must cater to their motion picture complex of glorification. And Gamage has buried himself in his football squad.

Coach Gamage's greatest sin is that he is not colorful enough; that he is too reserved in bringing himself into the limelight. Those having their pet grievances against the university have capitalized upon his silence. It is upon his head they have poured their abuse. And he has chosen to maintain the dignity of the university by declining controversy.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if we could just say, "Quick, Henry, the Flit!" and rid ourselves of chronic grumblers?

TO, I don't know a blessed thing about how cigarettes are made. But, of course, I would want the tobacco to be PURE. And then I've heard that the blending is very important. I'd want that to be done just right.

"Then the paper. I don't like paper that you can taste—or smell when it's burning. I'd want that pure too.

"Another thing. I want to smoke whenever I feel like it—without worrying about smoking too many. So I want my cigarettes MILD.
